

CONTENTS

MODERN AND POSTMODERN LITERATURE OF THE JEWISH LANGUAGE DIASPORA (edited by Marcin Wołk)

Marcin Wołk, On Jewish literature in non-Jewish languages: an introduction	9
Sławomir Jacek Żurek, Is Polish a Jewish language? Linguistic dilemmas of Polish-Jewish poets of the interbellum	23
Monika Szablowska-Zaremba, Women journalists of the interwar Polish-Jewish press: introductory remarks	34
Marcin Wołk, Artur Sandauer's topography of identity	49
Magdalena Szmorąg-Nerć, Jewish lineages in the literary interpretation of Fridrikh Gorenshtein: Berdychiv	64
Agnieszka Lenart, Literary culture of Russian-speaking Israel. Disputes over the "nationality" of literature	80
Małgorzata Dubrowska, A palimpsest of memory: about space symbolism in Vielleicht Esther by Katja Petrowskaja	91
Monika Tokarzewska, Still alive by Ruth Klüger as an example of the survivors late literature	100
Anna Ciarkowska, Language as a challenge. Anna Langfus's and Piotr Rawicz's writing strategies	116
Piotr Sadkowski, Patrick Modiano and his (non-)Jewish genealogies	125
Yvonne Völkl, Narrative lives: literary self-making in Quebec's francophone Jewish migrant literature	140
Dagmara Drewniak, Changing traditions in non-fictional Jewish-Canadian writing — the study of selected texts by Eva Hoffman, Elaine Kalman Naves and Bernice Eisenstein	154
Agnieszka Żmuda, America in Anna Frajlich's poetry	168
Beata Tarnowska, How does Tel Aviv (and Łódź) smell? About olfactory space in Renata Jabłońska's poetry	188
Piotr Krupiński, The rainbow that burst into flames: on the posthumous volume by Eliasz Rajzman	206
Michał Rydlewski, What makes us creative? Various thought collectives — various "circles of strangeness:" Ludwik Fleck's reflection on scientific biography	218
Alina Molisak, Luftmenschen in Berlin	239
Agnieszka Grudzińska, Piotr Rawicz and the solitude of a witness	243
Krzysztof Majer, Honey and ashes: figures of memory	249
Karolina Ciesielska-Famulska, New books from Israel	256
Beata Tarnowska, Literature and memory: Ryszard Löw's literary recapitulations	259

HISTORY OF LITERATURE

Aleksandra Ratajczak, Between history and religion. Change as a narrative figure of the formation tale in the writing of Józef Czapski	263
Beata Kalęba, Facing disinheritance. The heterogenic identity in the prose by Antanas Škėma and Czesław Miłosz	302

HISTORY

- Krzysztof Tarka, Targeted by the secret services of the PRL. The case of Aleksander Demidecki-Demidowicz 319
- Kamila Łabno, Zofia Hertz in the light of her correspondence with her father (1945–1958) 338

HISTORY OF ART

- Magdalena Kasa, Among angels and saints—the evolution of the sculptural form in the works of Maryla Lednicka-Szczytt 351
- Katarzyna Moskała, Between fear and art. Women in the works of Halina Korn-Żuławska 364

REVIEWS

- Kamila Łabno, Gustaw Herling-Grudziński and “Kultura” 389
- List of illustrations 399
- Reviewers 401